Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Messengers of Peace: A Christmas Allegory A Member (opening the door and seeing two strangers, with whom he has a few words). It s not a member, but two strangers, who, I think, want to speak to you. Secretary. The rule says only that members must come in by the side door after seven o clock, and that no guests are allowed. If these are strangers, let them come in; they should always be welcome. Enter the two messengers. Secretary. Welcome. What can we do for you? Peace Messenger. Twould seem we have not been misled, and that this is indeed the Tavern Club. Secretary. It certainly is. We are just starting our Christmas revels. May we know the reason for your appearance, and who indeed you are? War Messenger. We may not easily convince you about ourselves; nevertheless, we beg you to believe that what we say is truth, however strange it sound to ears of the Planet Earth. We are two messengers from Mars. Secretary. Do they teach English in the schools on Mars? War Messenger. We train perception in our schools, not bloodless facts. The true tuition nourishes intuition, imagination. We learn the fundamental principles of language, art, and science. To us there is no foreign tongue. Each of your earthly languages, to you so different from the others, is but a dialect of the higher speech, easily mastered once the basic code is understood. To see two human beings mute for lack of knowledge of each other s tongue is strange indeed to us. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
